

CONTRACT WORKS INSURANCE AT A GLANCE

What is Contract Works Insurance?

When you're working on a construction site, plenty of things can go wrong. Damage or loss to a building could cost you time, money and even your reputation. Meanwhile, an onsite injury can result in considerable pain, stress and financial loss.

That's why having the right amount and type of contract works insurance is an important part of your business toolkit, allowing you to get on with the job with less stress and worry.

Who should consider it?

Contract works insurance is recommended for small, medium and large commercial, industrial and domestic builders, sub-contractors and owner-builders.

Most owner builders take out contract works insurance for a specific contract, while professional builders generally choose an annual policy that covers multiple contracts.

“There have been significant reductions in the numbers and rates of injuries and fatalities in this industry over the last ten years or more. Nevertheless, the construction industry remains a high risk industry.”

Did you know?

The construction industry has the fourth highest rate of serious claims in 2012-13

(Safe Work Australia, Construction Industry Profile, 2015)

According to the NSW Police, theft from housing construction sites account for 1% of the cost of a new home

(NSW Police Force, Preventing Building Site Theft, 2018)

WA Building industry's anti-crime group, Busted, states that each year, building site theft costs the sector almost $25 million

(ABC, "Regional residents urged to keep watch for building site theft", 2014)

What can it cover?

Contract works insurance can cover the building which is under construction, whether it's a kit home, straw bale or mud brick home, multistory apartment or commercial buildings. It can also cover the equipment used in construction, as well as public liability risk.

Depending on your policy contract works insurance can cover you against:

Type of cover	Potential Benefits
Property Damage	Physical loss or destruction of tangible property, plant and equipment as well as remove debris
Public Liability	Sub-Contractor Liability, Products Liability and Cross Liability
Product Liability (only available from some insurers)	Third party personal injury or property damage resulting from an occurrence caused by your products after they cease to be in your possession or control
Legal Expenses/Defense Costs	Legal costs and expenses you are legally liable to pay following legal proceedings bought by or against you
Existing structures (optional cover)	Sudden and accidental physical damage to existing structures caused by natural events and the actions of the builder or contractor

What usually isn't covered?

Exclusions, the excess you need to pay and limits of liability can vary greatly depending on your insurer. Policies generally won't include cover for:

- loss after work has ceased for more than the number of days specified in the policy
- consequential loss
- cost of rectifying or correcting the defective workmanship
- work underground or in water unless specifically agreed by the insurer

Case Study

After working for other construction company owners all his working life, Craig starts his own small earthmoving firm. In the first couple of years, he borrows money and invests much of his income back into the business, buying the latest equipment and a work vehicle.

After starting work on a new construction at a new site, he leaves his tools and equipment locked in a garage on the site overnight. But that night, thieves break into the garage and steal Craig's tools, worth $25,000.

Craig contacts his insurance broker who helps him put in a claim. He's quickly reimbursed for his loss, so he isn't out of pocket and can keep his business running.
